MONTHLY COMMENTARY

- The first quarter of 2025 marked the beginning of a new era, both geopolitically and economically, as the Trump administration reshapes the global order. Trump 2.0's sweeping policy changes – tariffs, deregulation, and protectionism – have heightened uncertainty, damaging consumer and business confidence and raising recession fears. March's market performance reflected this growing unease.
- A wave of new tariffs and escalating trade tensions have weighed on investor sentiment, with the US reinforcing its focus on China as its primary geopolitical adversary. European allies face mounting pressure to increase defence spending, with Germany taking extraordinary steps to loosen fiscal constraints and fund military expansion.
- Equity markets saw increased volatility. Tariff concerns and doubts over US AI competitiveness extended the sell-off in megacap tech. The MSCI World index declined -6.8% in March, with the S&P 500 down -8.0%. European and UK equities were more resilient, falling -2.9% and -1.8%, respectively.
- The global bond market provided mixed signals returning 0.6% over the month as measured by the ICE BofA Global Broad Market index, with UK gilts and UK investment grade corporate bonds returning -1.2% and -0.9% respectively. US treasuries acted as a safe haven, with 10-year yields falling to 4.20% amid growth concerns. In contrast, German yields rose to 2.74%, as fiscal stimulus plans boosted growth expectations.
- Currency markets saw the dollar weaken 2.6% against the pound, reversing much of its post-election gains, reflecting a reassessment of US economic prospects. Meanwhile, gold continued its strength, rising by 6.6%, demonstrating its value as a hedge against geopolitical risk and inflation uncertainty.
- President Trump's 'Liberation Day' tariffs, including 25% levies on non-US automobiles and escalating duties on key imports, introduced significant downside risks to global growth. Early estimates suggest a potential 1-1.5% drag on global GDP, though the full impact remains uncertain and will depend on retaliatory actions from affected nations.
- As markets navigate this complex environment, volatility is likely to persist. While tactical opportunities may emerge, caution remains warranted. We continue to emphasise diversification across and within asset classes, balancing risk exposure while seeking attractive entry points amid market dislocations.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Fact sheet asset allocation percentages are in some cases based on the normalised (or benchmark) asset allocations of investee funds, as opposed to the actual exposures of those funds at the date of the fact sheet. This reflects the expected average allocation over time which will result from decisions to hold particular funds. If you are considering investing in the Momentum Managed Portfolios clients should consult a suitably qualified and approved Financial Adviser. The performance shown represents performance of the Managed Portfolios that are periodically restructured and rebalanced based on the impact of material, economic and market factors that influence MGIM's decision-making on asset allocation. The Managed Portfolios are applied to client accounts by the platform provider but it may take some time for the client accounts to mirror the performance of the Managed Portfolios. It is for this reason that client accounts may not have achieved exactly the same returns as the Managed Portfolios. The performance of the Managed Portfolios is based on the actual performance of the underlying funds included in the portfolios. These performance figures have not been audited by an external body. The value of investments may go down as well as up and the value will depend on fluctuations in financial markets outside MGIM's control, as a result an investor may not get back the amount invested.
